A Taste of the Orient: Exploring the Best Chinese Dishes at The Dome, Islamabad

Perched on the hilltop of Daman-e-Koh with sweeping views over Islamabad, The Dome has built its reputation on a menu that moves effortlessly between Pakistani classics, continental comfort food, and vibrant Chinese cuisine. For diners craving bold Oriental flavours without leaving the capital's most scenic dining spot, The Dome's Chinese selection offers something for every palate, from delicate dumplings to fiery Szechuan stir-fries.

Whether you're planning a family dinner, a weekend outing, or simply a craving for authentic wok-tossed flavours, here's a closer look at why The Dome's Chinese menu deserves a spot on your must-try list.

Why The Dome's Chinese Menu Stands Out

The Dome's kitchen treats Chinese cuisine with the same care given to its signature BBQ and continental dishes. Each dish is prepared fresh to order, using authentic sauces and traditional wok techniques that bring out the true character of Indo-Chinese and Oriental cooking. Paired with the restaurant's warm ambience and panoramic hilltop views, a Chinese meal here becomes an experience rather than just a dinner.

Start Light: Soups & Starters

A good Chinese meal begins with the right opener, and The Dome's starters set the tone perfectly.

Dish	Price	Description
The Dome Special Soup	Rs. 995	Chef's signature broth prepared with premium ingredients.
Hot & Sour Soup	Rs. 995	A traditional Chinese soup, warming and tangy with a gentle kick.
Dynamite Chicken	Rs. 1,595	Crispy chicken tossed in a creamy, mildly spicy dynamite sauce.
Pan-Sticker Dumplings	Rs. 1,695	Pan-fried dumplings with a crisp base and juicy filling, served with soy dip and a complimentary side of garlic or egg fried rice.

The Stir-Fry Selection: Choose Your Protein, Choose Your Sauce

This is where The Dome's Chinese menu truly shines. Guests can pick a protein — Chicken (Rs. 1,995), Beef (Rs. 2,395), Prawns (Rs. 3,395), or Fish (Rs. 2,995) — and pair it with one of eight distinctive sauces, each rooted in a different regional style:

- Chilli Dry — a dry-style wok toss with dried red chillies and garlic for bold heat.
- Manchurian — the Indo-Chinese favourite in a tangy, slightly spicy sauce.

- Cashew Nut — stir-fried with crunchy cashews in a rich brown sauce.
- Thai Basil — a fragrant stir-fry with chilli, garlic, and aromatic basil.
- Sweet & Sour — the classic combination of tangy sauce, bell peppers, and pineapple.
- Kung Pao — a spicy Sichuan dish with peanuts, chillies, and bold flavour.
- Szechuan — fiery Sichuan peppers and chillies for authentic, unapologetic heat.
- Tamarind — a tangy tamarind-based sauce balancing sweet and sour notes.

This build-your-own approach makes the stir-fry section ideal for groups with varying spice tolerances and flavour preferences, letting every guest at the table order exactly what they're craving.

Noodles & Rice: The Perfect Companions

Dish	Price	Description
The Dome Special Noodles	Rs. 2,295	Rice noodles stir-fried with Thai herbs and signature sauces.
Chicken Noodles	Rs. 1,995	Wok-tossed noodles with tender chicken and fresh vegetables.
Garlic Rice	Rs. 495	Fragrant rice sautéed with garlic and a light touch of soy.
Egg Fried Rice	Rs. 595	Classic wok-fried rice with scrambled egg and mild seasoning.

Great for Every Occasion

Beyond the à la carte menu, Chinese flavours also make an appearance in The Dome's Sunday brunch and dinner buffet spreads, with dishes such as Chow Mein, Kung Pao Fish Ball, and Chicken Manchurian featured alongside international and Pakistani favourites. It's a thoughtful touch that lets families and groups with different tastes find common ground on the same table.

Plan Your Visit

With its hilltop setting, warm hospitality, and a menu that spans Pakistani, continental, and Chinese cuisine, The Dome remains one of Islamabad's most versatile fine-dining destinations. For anyone chasing genuine wok-fired flavour with a view to match, the Chinese menu at The Dome is well worth the trip up to Daman-e-Koh.
